Files from the offices of the Administrative Assistant and Deputy Assistant to the President for Intergovernmental Relations. These positions were held in succession by Howard Pyle. He was appointed Administrative Assistant, effective February 1, 1955, to deal particularly with Federal programs of the departments and agencies which affected the various states and to serve as the President's representative in helping to coordinate programs between Federal and State Governments.

Effective June 16, 1955, he was appointed Deputy Assistant to the President for Intergovernmental Relations to help strengthen the American system by encouraging State and local governments to assume more responsibility for providing necessary public services. He resigned January 31, 1959 to devote his time more fully to his new position as President of the National Safety Council (non-Federal).

Additionally, Gov. Pyle was a member of the Joint Federal-State Action Committee, from July 20, 1957 until January 31, 1959, and a member of the President's Committee for Traffic Safety from June 1, 1959 until January 1961.

The files, each component of which is described separately below, reflect Mr. Pyle's various duties, including Federal-State relations, political campaigning, and speech making.
