SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

This collection consists of one series of personal files relating to Robert A. Bauer's career in government broadcasting. The series includes news clippings, magazine articles and lecture notes regarding his work for Voice of America and the Department of State, some of which are in French or German. There are two files of biographical information, including clippings, resumes, and drafts of two chapters of an autobiography, and a small quantity of correspondence. Some of the biographical information deals with the McCarthy investigation of Voice of America and Bauer’s role in developing a radio program called “Eye of the Eagle.”

There are a number of transcripts of 1939 Free Austria Radio broadcasts from Fécamp, France, most of which are in German. The collection also includes numerous 1949-1950 clippings from Austrian newspapers, primarily of Stimme Amerikas columns which were presumably authored by Bauer.
